Content Amplification

Foot Traffic

Footfall Attribution refers to the method used to relate mobile campaign impressions or conversions and actual store visits.

Why measure foot traffic? Foot traffic is a key factor for any successful campaign targeting a brick and mortar location. Measuring it is a means of connecting the digital world with offline behaviors, as well as providing the data you need to develop a strategy to increase it over time.

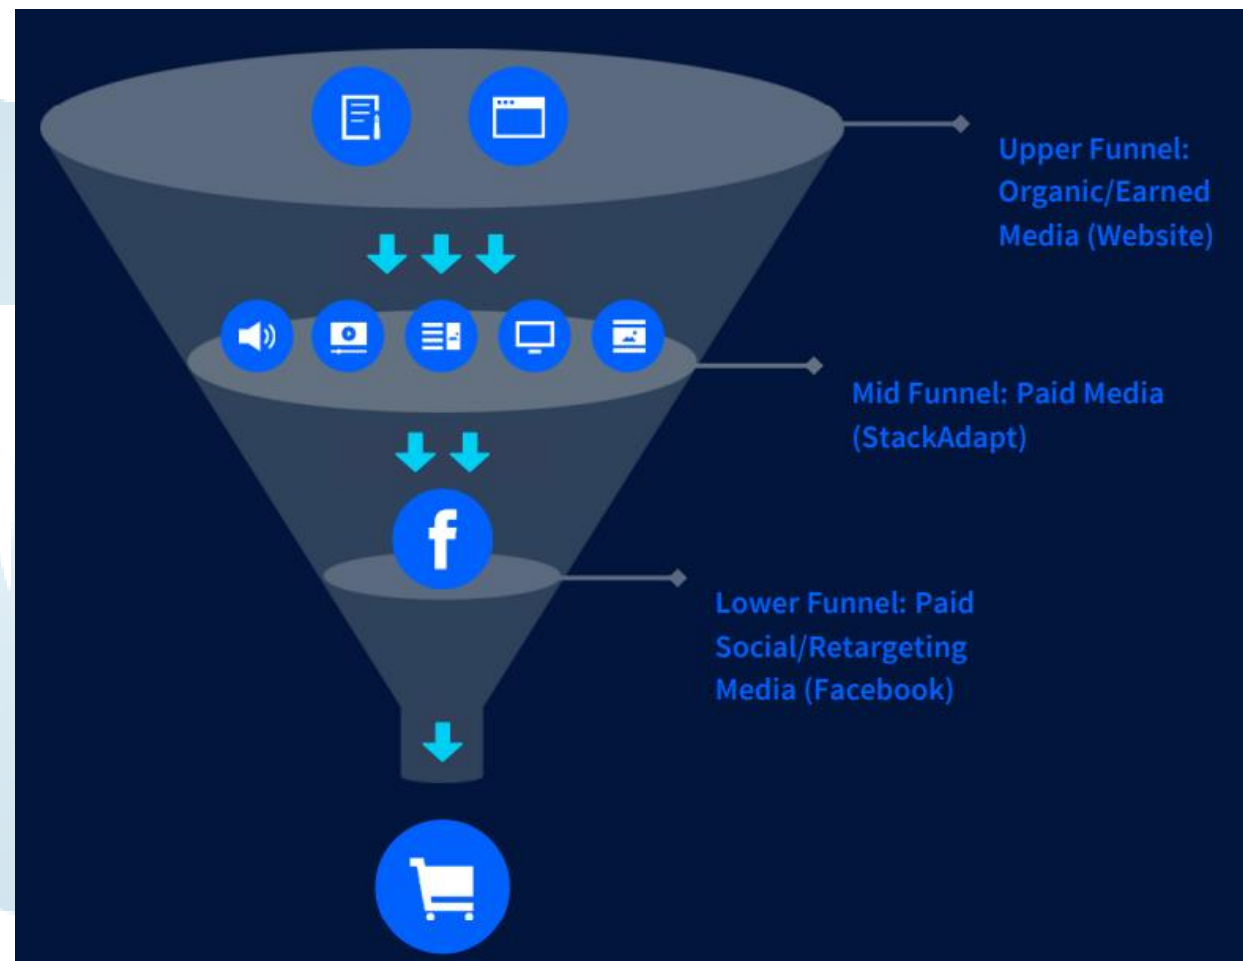

By leveraging one of the location intelligence partners, you can measure when a customer has visited your business after being served a digital ad

Social Retargeting

Scale Social Audiences

- 1 We place retargeting audience pixel within the impression tracker to build an audience of users who have already seen your ad.
- 2 Alternatively, we create a social retargeting pool within social walled gardens by placing a social pixel in the impression tracker.
- 3 Scale your user reach whenever impressions are won on guiding them further down the funnel.

Brand or Sales Lift ROI Strategy

Leveraging Integration

Cost Efficient. Allows for a bigger sample size than traditional programmatic brand lift partners, resulting in increased cost efficiency.

Benefit of real-time analytics...

Challenges Ahead

In life, change is the only constant thing. Some changes happen naturally as things evolve. In some cases, extraordinary intervening factors radically alter, accelerate or even derail the status quo. Covid-19 turned out to be such an intervening factor, and the changes that have unfolded in the digital-marketing space since early 2020 are a testament to that.

In the last year and a half, we have seen the digital-marketing landscape shift somewhat unexpectedly. The directions of the trend didn't change as much as accelerate, but the changes that did occur have left both businesses and marketing experts scratching their heads as to why their previously genius strategies seem to leave much to be desired. .

Landing Page

Landing Page

Strategic Development

Why use a Landing Page?

Unlike homepages, landing pages exist apart from your website and cater to a specific stream of traffic that has been attracted because of a single offer or lead magnet.

Landing pages are also highly dedicated with a laser-focus on one goal: Conversion

Because they cater to a wide audience, homepages have a host of options from which visitors can choose from. They essentially ask visitors: What do you want to do? On the other hand, everything that goes on a landing page, from design to content, has a sole purpose: to get the visitor to do one thing, and one thing only—fill out a form, make a call, request a consultation, take a survey, download an eBook, etc.
